STRIKES INTERFERE WITH BUSINESS.

According to Bradstreets the general business situation throughout the United States is less favorable, as is shown by reports from more than fifty important distributing centers. Only two cities of thirty-five reporting in Central, Western and Northwestern States, report material improvements. These cities are Indianapolis and Kansas City.

A specially depressing influence on business is the strike of 165,000 coal miners and coke operators in twelve States. Those men were producers, adding to the wealth of the country until the strike. Now the scarcity of coal is affecting other industries and factories will have to shut down unless work is resumed in the mines. An effort is being made to adjust the difference between the coal and coke operators and the miners and workers. A meeting of the coal operators of four or five States has been held at Chicago at which it was decided to ask for a conference with the strikers, at any place they might designate, for the purpose of ending the strike, and it is believed a settlement will soon be reached.

The strike on the Great Northern railroad is also affecting business. Several hundred miles of one of the principal western railroads are practically blockaded, retarding the business of the Northwest. It is believed that if the strikes were ended there would be a slight improvement in business throughout the country, but no boom is looked for until something transpires to restore confidence. Capital and labor are both idle. There is over $80,000,000 in New York city alone that cannot, it is claimed, be loaned on good security, and there are over one million able bodied men in the country seeking employment. Ordinarily the money now lying idle would be invested in enterprises that would furnish men employment, but at present capital will take no changes and the consequence is a large army in enforced idleness.

RELIGION AND POLITICS.

Governor Northen of Georgia appointed Patrick Walsh United States Senator to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator Colquitt. Walsh is a Catholic and the A. P. A. assailed the Governor for appointing him because of his religious belief. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, the celebrated Baptist Minister, made the attack of the A. P. A. on Governor Northen the subject of his discourse last Sunday evening. He declared that any organization which essayed to establish a religious test for office is an enemy of the State. "They are," said he, "acting the part of Judas, and the result of their war on religious liberty will result in driving people into the Catholic Church."

Dr. Hawthorne said that all good people, whatever their religious belief, were equally devoted to the country, and they should unite against an organization which is un-American and visionary.

The ministers of all denominations in Atlanta indorse the sentiments of Dr. Hawthorne, and they are sustained by the press of the city. All agree that there should be no religious test for office, as men should be elected because of their fitness for the place, their standing as citizens and the principles which they advocate; not for the reason that they attend a particular church.

CAREY'S LAND BILL.

The bill now before the United States Senate to grant the public lands in Wyoming and Montana to those States, is ventilated by the Denver News. It says:

"The purpose of Senator Carey's arid land bill appears to be well understood in Wyoming. The Senator and his confederates have extensive land claims under the Sabile and other prospective ditches, and if they can only get the bill passed they think it will be easier to manage the Wyoming land department than the general land office at Washington. This was the purpose of Senator Warren's bill when it was before Congress and Carey's measure is undoubtedly for the same purpose. If it is passed, it will not be the first time the law has been fixed by these Wyoming Senators in order to facilitate the operations of Wyoming's land grabbers."

THE COURT WILL NOT INTERFERE.

The Supreme Court of Montana has refused to issue a writ of mandemus ordering the Great Northern to operate its road in that State. The Court held that the proceedings were equivalent to asking the Court to inquire and determine what would be a reasonable scale of wages for the men to operate the road and then to ascertain whether the requisite number of men could be employed at the wages determined upon. The Court was not certain that it had jurisdiction of the arbitrament of these questons or power to enforce its decision, should it decide them, and consequently refused to issue the writ asked for by the petitioners.

SENATOR FRANCIS B. STOCKBRIDGE of Michigan died in Chicago night before last. He was a native of Maine aged 58 years, and was re-elected to the United States Senate from Michigan in 1893. This makes the third United States Senator who has died during the present session of Congress.

COXEY'S ARMY.

A Parade in Washington—Two of the Leaders Arrested—Exciting Scenes and Incidents.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The Commonweal army was astir early to-day upon Brightwood Heights, busy with preparations for the procession to the Capitol. There was an early breakfast of eggs, bread and coffee. Tents were packed into wagons and the army was in line before 9 o'clock. All the men carried staves, on which fluttered white flags with the motto: "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men, but Death to Interest on Bonds."

Before the start Carl Browne formed the men into a hollow square, and put them through a most remarkable drill. Staves were handled like guns, and when Browne shouted "Glory and peace" they cheered three times and waved their sticks in the air.

The Philadelphia Commune, sixty men strong, stood to one side waiting to fall in. Oaklahoma Sam galloped up and down the line on a stallion. The bass drum boomed dismally and bagpipes emitted shrill screams. After a march twice around the grounds the men were drawn up in line and more cheers and drilling followed. Browne harrangued the men in the customary street fakir strain, telling them they had received permission to march to the Capitol grounds, where they must disband and enter as individual citizens. "Whether or not we will be permitted to speak, I cannot say," he added, "but you must be careful to preserve the peace. Then we will march to a new camp near by. This demonstration will be more powerful than force, than guns or bombs." The ragged army cheered wildly.

Browne went on: "The people said we could not march up Pennsylvania avenue when we reached here. Yet the police department informed Brother Coxey yesterday that we could march. Mr. Crisp refused yesterday to allow us to speak on the Capitol steps. We did not see the Vice President. We will go into the Capitol grounds as individuals. They cannot prevent us doing that."

THE MARCH.

At 10:15 the industrial army was ready and out of Brightwood Driving Park it started for the city. As the caravan worked its way down the three-mile stretch of woods to this city it was a most fantastic array.

Nine mounted police rode ahead. Then came Carl Browne in a buckskin suit mounted on a big gray percheron stallion, and waved a small flag. Next was a creamy white prancing circus steed, bearing Miss Mamie Coxey in the role of Goddess of Peace. She is a slender, handsome girl of 17, with long golden hair. She wore a pure white riding habit. Her head was covered by a little rimless blue cap, and she shaded her face with a tiny parasol. Altogether she was a picture of such unusual beauty that a spontaneous cheer greeted her unexpected appearance all along the line.

Oklahoma Sam followed on another stallion. Next came marshals, bugler, flag bearer and a band of six pieces playing "Marching Through Georgia." A banner with a portrait of Carl Browne and the legend, "Death to Interest on Bonds," was borne after a light buggy decorated with flags drawn by two black horses, in which sat General Coxey himself beside Mrs. Coxey, a handsome young woman in a colored tailor-made gown, shading with a parasol the white-robed infant, "Legal Tender" Coxey, aged two years.

From Mount Pleasant to the Capitol grounds the men marched between rows of people three deep. About a hundred Commonwealers were in line. Scattered among the army were about a score of representatives of labor organizations, and as many detectives from large cities. In the city the crowd interfered with the passing of the army and the police were kept busy. Coxey doffed his hat several times in response to cheers.

A POPULIST TELEGRAM.

At Thomas Circle Marshal Browne ordered a halt for a rest, while the men gave three cheers for "Peace." The police dashed up and upon their command the army promptly moved on. The Commonwealers turned into Pennsylvania avenue at 12:15, and this telegram from Harrisburg was handed to Coxey:

"The Populist convention now in session here, sends greeting and express hope that you receive a fair hearing for the principles you have so nobly advocated."

It looked as if a circus was in town. There was little of interest in the walk up Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol grounds.

The procession moved up B street to the top of the hill where the broad expanse of avenue swept toward the east front of the Capitol. Mounted policemen stretched from curb to curb made ingress toward the Capitol impossible. The squad of police in front of the army went straight ahead. It was a ruse to carry the procession past the Capitol. Half a block up B street Browne halted the column and dismounted. He turned over his horse to an attendant, then he went to Coxey's carriage and spoke to the General.

Coxey kissed his wife, sprang from his carriage and made his way to the entrance of the Capitol. Browne followed bearing a banner. The rank and file of the army stood in the street. Coxey sprang to the stone paving on the east side of the Capitol grounds, and, with a bound, was inside the fence amid a tangle of shrubbery. Browne followed. The first officer tied his horse to a fence, cleared the fence at a bound and darted into the shrubbery. Other officers followed. Small trees, bushes and flower beds went down before the sweep of the horsemen and the yelling crowd which followed.

ON THE CAPITOL STEPS.

Coxey and Browne dodged through the bushes to the open area in the east front. There was a crash when the fugitives, officers and mob from the street met the wall of officers and people in the open. The people shouted and Coxey and Browne were lost for a moment. The policemen stemmed the rushing after a minute, one officer using his baton freely. Coxey slipped unobserved through the struggling mass and bounded up the east front of the entrance to the Capitol. He was up to the tenth step before he was recognized. Then the officers closed in about him. The great crowd recognized him and a great shout went up from every corner.

Coxey turned to the crowd and raised his hat. He was pale. Captain Garden of the Capitol Police, stepped to his right side and Lieutenant Kelly of the city police, held his other arm. The officers formed solidly about him. The crowd below was held back by menacing clubs.

"What do you want to do here?" asked Captain Garden.

"I wish to make an address," replied Coxey. His voice showed intense emotion.

"But you cannot do that."

"Then can I read a protest?" asked Coxey. He drew from his pocket a type-written manuscript and began to unfold it.

Captain Garden took Coxey by the left arm and Lieutenant Kelly by the right and they moved down the steps, a solid rank of officers following. At the first step the great crowd greeted the officers with a shout.

Again the mounted police charged, and it looked as if there would be trouble, but the little knot of officers pressed forward with Coxey in their center, flanked by mounted officers.

As Coxey made his exit from the Capitol entrance he tossed the type-written protest to a group of newspaper men, saying; "That is for the press."

There was no formal arrest.

Coxey turned toward the army, which still stood on B street.

CARL BROWNE ARRESTED.

Carl Browne was a shining mark on account of his conspicuous costume and the most aggressive portion of the crowd followed him. As Browne broke through the foliage half a dozen mounted policemen charged after him. When he reached the foot of the Capitol steps there was an exciting dialogue between him and the police. The police threw themselves upon Browne, grabbed the flag of peace, smashed the staff, seized Browne by the shoulders and thrust him through the crowd several hundred feet to the sidewalk. Clubs descended upon men's shoulders, but whether Browne was hit could not be said. The officers rushed him through the crowd, he trying to shelter his head, shouting: "I am an American citizen; I stand on my Constitutional rights." The dramatic marshal was dragged to the police station.

When the police had escorted Coxey to his carriage he clambered into the vehicle and a loud cheer went up from the crowd. Then the policemen lost their heads and falling upon a gronp of luckless colored women, clubbed them.

The army had not broken ranks in all the tumult. The humble bass drummer started the solemn "boom" upon his instrument and the Commonwealers fell into step, and with Coxey bowing to the right and left, amid wild cheering, the procession turned down Second street to South, and started to its new camp in the malarious region in the extreme southern part of the city.

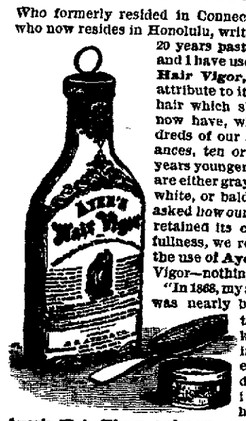

Christopher Columbus Jones, leader of the Philadelphia contingent, was also arrested. He and Browne will be arraigned in the Police Court to-morrow on a charge of violation of a special act of Congress against assemblages in the Capitol grounds. The penalty is a fine not to exceed $100 or imprisonment not to exceed sixty days, or both.

Who formerly resided in Connecticut, but who now resides in Honolulu, writes: "For 20 years past, my wife and I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor, and we attribute to it the dark hair which she and I now have, while hundreds of our acquaintances, ten or a dozen years younger than we, are either gray-headed, white, or bald. When asked how our hair has retained its color and fullness, we reply, 'By the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor—nothing else.'"

"In 1868, my affianced was nearly bald, and the hair kept falling out every day. I induced her to use Ayer's Hair Vigor, and very soon, it not only checked any further loss of hair, but produced an entirely new growth, which has remained luxuriant and glossy to this day. I can recommend this preparation to all in need of a genuine hair-restorer. It is all that it is claimed to be."—Antonio Alarrm, Bastrop, Tex.

UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS.

Condition of the Funds and Other Matters of Interest.

(Virginia Chronicle.)

An examination of the finances of the State University at the meeting of the Board of Regents on Thursday showed a cash balance in the Experimental Station Fund of $813 50. A quarterly remittance of $3,750 to add to this fund was received from the Government in the last part of April. The total amount of the fund, which is to run till July, was $4,563 50. The balance in the State University Fund. was $5,573 70; in the State Mining Laboratory Fund, $2,364 83; and in the State Agricultural College Fund, $300. On the first of July the last named fund will receive $21,000 from the Government to run till the next July. As there is only $300 in the fund now and the monthly expense to be met by it is $1,900, there will be $3,500 to pay as soon as that appropriation is received. The Regents expect to economize sufficiently to come out all right at the end of the fiscal year, however.

There are 192 students enrolled at the University and 165 in attendance at present.

Regent Fish, committee upon securing a successor to J. M. Neall, reported that an application had been sent to the War Department to have Lieutenant Neall continued at the University, or if that cannot be done, to detail Lieutenant W. R. Hamilton of the Fourth Artillery. Lieutenant Hamilton is an author and an able man generally, and, providing Neall is withdrawn, would make an excellent successor to him.

Fish, committee on smelter, reported that a smelter had been erected for the School of Mines and was in successful and satisfactory operation.

Mack and Haynes, committee on Laboratory, reported a reduction in the expense of running it. They also reported, as a committee in the matter, that they had interviewed a number of prominent men of the State and had received encouragement in the project of building a dormatory. The people of the State are too poor to subscribe the money for the building, however, and it will probably have to be built by an appropriation from the State.

It is understood that Dr. Stubbs, the newly elected President of the University, will lecture to many of the High Schools of the State between the 20th of June and the end of the school term. At the opening of the September term of the University he will conduct some very interesting exercises on Inaugural Day to which the people of the State will be invited. The occasion will be a noted one, and a number of prominent educators will be invited to deliver addresses, among whom will be David Star Jordan of Stanford and President Kellogg of Berkeley.

THE BARBECUE.

May Day Celebrated in True Old Fashioned Style at Laughton's

The May Day barbecue at Laughton's Springs yesterday was attended by fully three hundred people. Busses ran between Reno and the springs all day and took out a great many. Verdi was well represented, about sixty being down from the riverside burg. The men in the box factory worked last Sunday in order to attend, and enjoyed the occassion to its fullest extent.

Roast beef and mutton was in sufficient quantities for everyone. Dancing was indulged in, with music furnished by Hastings' band. The baths and bar were well patronized and there was no lack of opportunities for all to enjoy themselves.

BANK OF NEVADA MEETING.

The Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Nevada was held yesterday. Nearly all the stock was represented and the following Directors were elected for the ensuing year:

M. D. Foley, Daniel Meyer, C. C. Powning, J. N. Evans, A. Abrahams, A. G. Fletcher and George Russell. Last evening a meeting of the Board of Directors was held and the following officers were elected: M. D. Foley President; George Russell, Vice President, R. S. Osburn, Cashier.

The Directors and officers are the same as heretofore, except that A. G. Fletcher succeeds M. E. Ward as Director, and George Russell succeeds M. E. Ward as Vice President.

A REMARKABLE ACCIDENT.

A Young Man Falls Headfirst Down a Well.

Angelo McKelvey met with a remarkable accident yesterday. He was walking up Sierra street in the morning and when opposite the Golden Eagle hotel he heard the band playing. Turning around suddenly he found himself going down Barnes' well head foremost. In turning about he had fallen over the low curbing of the well.

The well is 30 feet deep and stone curbed, and contains about two feet of water.

The young man reached the bottom safely and climbed up the rope. He did not appear to be much injured. He is the son of Rev. Charles McKelvey who was pastor of the M. E. church here at one time.

Robberies on street cars in San Francisco are getting to be of almost daily occurrence. The latest reported was at 5 o'clock Monday evening at the corner of Kearny and California streets. At that time Mrs. Rose Dawes of Tacoma, Washington, who was a passenger in the car, was robbed of $500 by three men, two of whom were afterwards captured by the police.

NEVADA DAY.

Preparing for its Celebration at the Midwinter Fair.

Elaborate preparations are being made by Commissioner Yerington for the celebration of Nevada Day, May 15th, at the Midwinter Fair. It is expected that Governor Colcord and his staff will officially visit the Fair and that all the State officers will attend the celebration on that day. An excursion has already been arranged to leave Reno for San Francisco Saturday evening, May 12th, over the Southern Pacific at $7 50 for the round trip. This ought to insure a large attendance from Nevada. There are, too, many old Nevadans in San Francisco who are taking an interest in the matter and will endeavor to make the occasion pleasurable to all who attend.

It is not probable that the Nevada exhibit will remain open much longer than the middle of the month, as funds are getting short and the expenses are about $700 per month. So all who desire to visit the Fair should avail themselves of this opportunity.

THE DOUGLASS-STEVENSON CASE.

Judgment Rendered for the Plaintiff.

In the District Court at Carson, in the case of J. M. Douglass vs. the estate of C. C. Stevenson, Judge Rising rendered judgment yesterday in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $4,871.

This suit was begun in January, 1892, tried by a jury and a verdict rendered in favor of the plaintiff. The defendant appealed to the Supreme Court where the verdict was reversed on the ground that it did not appear that Trenmor Coffin, of counsel for the defendant, was attorney for the estate at the time the claim was handed him, as Mrs. Stevenson, the executrix, was absent in California.

The case was sent back to the District Court for a new trial and was tried on April 3, 1894. Judge Rising took it under advisement, and yesterday rendered the foregoing decision. Major F. M. Huffaker was attorney for the plaintiff and Messrs. J. L. Wines, Trenmor Coffin and Hon. William Woodburn for the defendant.—Enterprise.

"THE PRIZE WINNER."

A Wholesome Story of Love and Devotion.

Lovers of amusement in this city will be royally entertained on Monday evening, May 7th at the Opera House, when that excellent comedian and singer, Charles A. Gardner, will appear for the first time here in his new comedy drama, "The Prize Winner." Mr. Gardner will interpret his role of Karl, the prize winner, in the German dialect, and will sing seven new songs set to music by Gustav H. Kline, composer of "The Lilac." The new songs include "The Turner's Triumph," "The Hunter," "Wedding Bells," "The Butterfly," "Apple Blossoms," "The Flower Girl," and "Wand Drill." The plot of the new play reveals a wholesome story of love and devotion and self-sacrificing heroism. Not only has Mr. Gardner ample scope to display his fine talents, but the other members of his excellent company have strong parts to portray. Besides there are marvelous scenic effects and a splendid mounting of the play generally. An avalanche of a decidedly realistic kind is a sensational feature of "The Prize Winner."

Excursion to San Francisco.

The experienced excursion manager, P. H. Mulcahy, is organizing an excursion to San Francisco and return, to leave Reno, Saturday, May 12, 1894. The fare for the round trip will be $7 50. Excursionists will have an opportunity to visit that marvel of beauty, the Midwinter Fair, during the month of sunshine and flowers, and participate in the festivities of Nevada Day, W. C. T. U. Day, Knights of Pythias Day, Athletic Day, Swedish Day, Miners' Day, etc. Parties desiring to subscribe for tickets, or all information, apply to P. H. Mulcahy, Reno, Nevada. ap 8-t d

Sun Worshipers.

There is a small tribe of Indians in Southern Arizona who are idolaters. They are in reality sun worshipers, but make small images out of clay with faces supposed to represent the sun, although bearing little if any resemblance to it. They do not associate with other tribes and are very rarely seen by white men. The idols have large, round bodies and heads, with eyes and mouths and ears, beams radiating from the eyes over the face. The Indians have these in their rude houses or wigwams and at certain seasons they hold their sun dance, which is with them a religious ceremony. They have no other form of worship, although a few of them were at one time induced to abandon their idols by the works of the Jesuits.

SNAKES IN FLORIDA.

A MAN WHO HAS CAUGHT THEM FOR TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS.

He Charms Them With a Banjo and Cures Bites With a Weed—Rattlesnakes Are Easy to Tame—The King Snake Is a King Indeed—The Biggest Rattler.

After a man has spent 28 years of his life catching snakes he knows what he is talking about. Si Foman is 43 years old. He went into the business of catching snakes when he was 15. He shows evidence of what the insurance men would call "an extra hazardous vocation" in the shape of 75 or more scars, the result of wounds inflicted by the fangs of reptiles. These scars are all over his body—on his legs, one on his jaw, under the eye, where a rattler clipped him and hung one day, while the back of his hands look like crows' nests of scars. He is a colored man and has the appearance of having Indian blood in his veins.

"All snakes," said Si, "like music, and this banjo is the thing I use to catch them with. Suppose I'm in the woods and see a rattlesnake crawl down a gopher hole. I go to the mouth of the hole and play, and pretty soon here comes the old fellow crawling forth. As soon as he gets outside I pick him up and put him in the bag. If he's in the open, coiled under a palmetto leaf, I'm more cautious. About 30 feet off I sit down and play, and the snake quickly uncoils himself and rolls around over the ground as if he enjoyed it. He rattles all the time, but not as loud as he does when he means business and is giving you warning to give him more room. I gradually approach, playing softer and softer, and finally I pick him up about the middle and slip him in the bag and go looking for another.

"A rattlesnake is the most poisonous of all the snakes in Florida. His bite is sure death unless you have an antidote very handy. I've got an antidote, though, and a bite never troubles me now in the least. It is so efficacious that the wound hardly swells. I went down and spent nearly two years among the Seminoles in the Everglades to get it, and then it was good luck. I was out in the woods one day with Knothole. The old fellow got bitten by a rattlesnake, and he started at once for his antidote. I followed him, for I knew what he was looking for. He tried to conceal the plant by crushing it down with his foot, but I picked it up and told him that was the thing to cure snake bites. He remarked that I was too much of an Indian and must stay always in the Indian camp. The plant not only cures snake bite, but the stings of all kinds of insects, and it is also said to cure rabies.

"Well, to get back to snakes. There are two kinds of rattlers in Florida. One is the swamp rattler and the other the highlander. The swamp snake has a larger head and a thicker body and is altogether a heavier snake than his highland brother. His coat, too, is darker and his diamonds brighter. He is more vicious and gives mighty little time for you to move when he sounds the alarm.

"Rattlesnakes are very easy to tame. Let me handle them for about four days, and they know me and make no effort whatever to bite. I don't take the fangs out, for what's the use? In two weeks they grow out again big enough to kill you, and in six weeks are as big as they ever were. I have heard people say that a rattlesnake gets his poison from a plant, but it's all nonsense. It's in them, for I find those a year in captivity are just as deadly as when fresh from the woods.

"The biggest rattlesnake I ever saw I caught up here by Palatka. He was 10 feet 11 inches long, weighed 38 pounds and had 56 rattles. I had him in a pit there in the yard for a long time. A heavy rain came once and filled the pit up with water, and he drowned. I made a vest out of his skin. I'm afraid I'll never get another snake like that," and Si sighed to think what he had lost.

"Si, how far does a rattlesnake strike?"

"Some people say he strikes his length, and others declare that he can jump more than his length, but I've watched them closely, and I know they are wrong. A rattlesnake can't get farther than the length of two coils. That's about half his length."

"Where do you find most of the rattlers?"

"Fort George is a great place for them. Pablo is another good field, while all down the coast in the scrub there are thousands. Then in the hummocks and swamps you will find plenty, and in the pine woods, where there are gopher holes. A rattlesnake likes a gopher hole. It's a nice snug place, and he lives there with the coachwhip, the gopher and the gopher snake in perfect harmony.

"But the great snake, the smart snake, the snake you can educate to perform tricks, is the king snake, and he's the king and enemy of them all, and he kills all he can and eats them, too, if they are not too large. The king snake isn't afraid to tackle anything that crawls. I've seen one kill a rattlesnake almost twice as big as he was. The king snake crawls silently up to where the rattler is dozing and grabs him with his mouth by the jaws, so that the rattler can't possibly use his fangs. Then, in the twinkling of an eye, he coils himself around his enemy and tightens his coils and stretches them until you can hear the bones crack. When he leaves, the rattler is like a jelly."—Florida Times-Union.

BALD HEADS!

What is the condition of yours? Is your hair dry, harsh, brittle? Does it split at the ends? Has it a lifeless appearance? Does it fall out when combed or brushed? Is it full of dandruff? Does your scalp itch? Is it dry or in a heated condition? If these are some of your symptoms be warned in time or you will become bald.

Skookum Root Hair Grower

is what you need. Its production is not an accident, but the result of scientific research. Knowledge of the diseases of the hair and scalp led to the discovery of how to treat them. "Skookum" contains neither minerals nor oils. It is not a Dye, but a delightfully cooling and refreshing Tonic. By stimulating the follicles, it stops falling hair, cures dandruff and grows hair on bald heads.

Keep the scalp clean, healthy, and free from irritating eruptions, by the use of Skookum Skin Soap. It destroys parasitic insects, which feed on and destroy the hair.

If your druggist cannot supply you send direct to us, and we will forward prepaid, on receipt of price. Grower, $1.00 per bottle; 6 for $5.00. Soap, 50c. per jar; 6 for $2.50.

Music as Medicine.

At the St. Pancras infirmary there was a female patient suffering from melancholia, to whom they played a lullaby. After the performance she told a nurse that she liked it very much. On this the superintendent of the infirmary said, "This is the first time she has spoken for a fortnight." Shortly afterward a male patient suffering from delirium tremens was brought into the ward. On hearing the first notes of the music he became quite calm and attentive, though his attendant had been half afraid to bring him on account of outbreaks of violence.

Results like these have since been frequently obtained by the guild, and they are certainly most encouraging. They are all, it will be seen, in the direction of distracting the mind from pain and soothing mental irritation. In order to test the hypnotic effect of soft music the guild made the experiment of playing lullabies to a ward of 14 patients, along with Dr. Collins, one of the physicians to the hospital. In spite of distracting noises, unhappily inseparable from the ward of a London hospital, they got the following results: Dr. Collins "found it an effort to keep awake," four patients were actually sent to sleep, some "liked it too well to sleep," and others felt "sad, but delighted."—Chambers' Journal.

A Photographic Hint.

Mr. Wuestner, the well known maker of photographic plates, recently stated that bathing an ordinary plate for two minutes in a bath composed of water nine parts and ammonia one part will double the sensitiveness of the plate. Plates thus treated will keep for a short time only. Plates of medium rapidity, he said, will keep for five or six years, while fast plates will retain their properties some three or four months only. There is no difference in the keeping qualities of the ordinary plates and the orthochromatic plates made in this country.—Detroit Free Press.

Rosa Maria.

The rose of Jericho, a plant with which many superstitions are connected, is called Rosa Mariæ, or Mary's flower. It is a small, bushy, herbaceous plant about six inches high, of the natural order cruciferæ, which grows in the sandy deserts of Arabia and Palestine and bears small white flower on many branches. When its leaves fall, the branches contract toward the center and coil themselves inward and interlace like a ball of wickerwork, which is blown about from place to place. When it happens to fall into water, it uncoils, and its pods open and let out the seed. If a specimen is taken before it is quite withered, it will retain the property of contracting in drought and expanding in moisture for years. Its generic name —anastatica—signifies this seeming resurrection to new life.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The Dimple Making Machine.

The woman who must have dimples or die has only to invest in the dimple producing machine, which an English paper says has been invented and patented by a woman with an eye for beauty and with a speculative turn of mind. She, of all others, ought to be rewarded with one or more of these fetching marks of beauty, providing she can endure the torture of her own device, which is a kind of mask arranged with screws and wooden points that press upon the cheeks or chin where the dimples ought to be. This is worn at night, but just how long it must be applied to produce the desired impression is not said.—New York Sun.

The most stubborn skin and scalp diseases, the worst forms of scrofula all blood taints and poisons of every name and nature are atterly rooted out by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. For every disease caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, it is the only remedy so certain and effective that it can be guaranteed. If it fails to benefit or cure you have your money back.

Eczema, tetter, salt-rheum, erysipelas, boils carbuncles, enlarged glands, tumors and swellings, and every kindered ailment, are completely and permanently cured by it.

A Famous Whist Hand.

The most notorious hand of whist ever played is that known as "the Duke of Cumberland's hand." It has never been definitely settled how this hand came to be dealt, but such a peculiar combination naturally suggests suspicions of foul play. The duke, playing in the room at Bath, held in his hands king, knave, nine, seven of trumps (clubs), ace, king of diamonds, ace, king, queen, knave of hearts, and ace, king, queen of spades and yet was unable to secure a single trick, and, moreover, lost a bet of £20,000 upon the hand. This incredible result was achieved as follows: The duke of course led with a trump and found his partner void in that suit. His left hand adversary, whom we may call "Y," having ace, queen, ten, eight and his right hand adversary, "Z," the remaining five trumps and no diamonds, the consequence was that "Z" trumped diamonds twice, and "Y" "sitting over" the duke with better trumps, after taking the sixth trick, had the lead with the seven remaining diamonds, and thus "Y" and "Z" made the 13 tricks.—New York Mail and Express.

A Sensitive Man.

Writer—The editor of The Laughers' Own is the most sensitive man I ever saw.

Friend—In what respect?

Writer—He can't take a joke.

Friend—I never observed it.

Writer—Well, I have. I took a dozen good ones to him today, and he rejected every one of them.—Detroit Free Press.

SUMMONS.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE State of Nevada, in and for Washoe Co. The State of Nevada sends to John A. Garges greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Ella C Garges as plaintiff in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days; or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint This action is brought to recover a judgment and decree of this court dissolving the bonds of matrimony between you and the plaintiff, on the grounds that on the 11th day of January, A. D. 1893, you wilfully, and without any cause, deserted and abandoned the plaintiff, and still continues, and has ever since continued, to desert and abandon the plaintiff, without sufficient cause or reason and against her will and consent Plaintiff alleging that you intermarried with plaintiff at Johnson county, Missouri, on the 12th day of January, A. D. 1881, and have ever since been husband and wife; that she is now and for more than one year last past she has been a resident of Washoe county, Nevada; that there are three minor children living the issue of said marriage. Plaintiff also demands that the custody of said minor children be awarded to her, and that she recover her costs, etc.

All of which will appear more fully from the complaint, which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said court, at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred. And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said court at Reno, this 10th day of February, A. D. 1894. { seal. }

O. EVANS. Clerk of the District Court of the state of Nevada, in and for Washoe county.
